NEWS IN BRIEF.

The prospect of the crops is still very good from all parts of the country, in spite of the itching palms of speculators in bread and beef.

Cholera has broken out in Georgetown Mo., and there had been twenty-two deaths at the last accounts. Not a single family in the town, it is stated, had escaped visitation with the epidemic.

The Pension Office has received the muster and party rolls of the Kentucky troops who served under Gen. Wayne in 1793-4, and gives notice of the fact, in order that all persons in any way interested may have the full benefit of those documents.

A Locomotive Editor says that "the respectable portion of the Know Nothing party have lost all control of the Order." But how can there be a "respectable portion of the Know Nothing party," if, as the Locomotive papers assert, all the members of that party are "midnight assassins," "traitors," "liars," "snakes," and "perjured wretches?"

A man in St. Louis who ran away with his neighbor's wife and boots a few days since, has been arrested and will be tried for stealing the boots, but abduction of the wife the law does not regard as a crime.

Mrs. Mary Channel, a member of the United Society of Hartford, Mass., died a day or two since, at the advanced age of 90 years. Mrs. C. was one of the choir of singers that welcomed Gen. Washington upon his visit to Boston.

The Know-Nothings of Louisville held a meeting on Tuesday night, 28 inst., to ratify the action of the Philadelphia Convention. An imposing procession took place. Speeches were made by Hon. Humphrey Marshall, President Bartlett, Gen. Pichey, Mr. Prentice and others. Great enthusiasm was manifested, and the crowd was estimated at ten thousand persons.

A letter from New Mexico on the 30th of June, tells of the unprecedented success Colonels Fauntleroy and St. Vain over the hostile Utah and Apache Indians, with their respective commands. For years, these land pirates have been a terror to the inhabitants of this territory—pillaging and massacring the inoffensive people, and this with almost perfect impunity.

A letter from Baton, Ohio, dated 18th ult., speaking of harvest laborers, says:—Several thousand able-bodied men are needed here. They would receive twelve or eighteen dollars per month and found, several hundred could find employment in this section and receive good wages, and be otherwise well cared for.

Advices from Nicaragua state that the authorities of Central America have ordered that Col. Kinney and Mr. Fabens should be put to death by any civil or military officer or officers, if they are found within the territory of the Republic. Much alarm prevailed. Col. John H. Wheeler, U. S. Minister to Nicaragua, is expected to arrive in the United States about the 10th proximo, bearing a new treaty with that power, which it is thought he has by this time negotiated.

By a dispatch from Independence, Mo., on the 28th inst., we learn that the Salt Lake mail train arrived on the night previous, with the mails for May. The party had no interruption from Salt Lake to Laramie. Indians are reported to be numerous around Black Hill, and are much alarmed at the movements of the troops and desirous of peace. They propose giving up the murders of the mail party last fall. The reports of so many persons having been killed by them are all mere fabrications. Four hundred had reached Ft. Laramie.

The Steubenville & Indiana Railroad.
Ma. Editor:—In my last, I said there were other views of the subject, which addressed themselves not less cogently to every man's self interest than those there presented. Before proceeding to explain them, I will add to what I have already said, that five dollars an acre may be set down as a moderate average advance on the lands within the limits before indicated. This will give an actual advance on 1,500,000 acres of land of $7,500,000 or $800 on each quarter section.

The advance in the net proceeds over and above the cost of marketing of all surplus agricultural products sent to market, will be at least in equal degree on those products heretofore marketable. But this is not all. Many articles which in certain localities, be produced in great abundance, will be added to the list of marketable productions, from which they have been heretofore excluded by their bulk, or weight in proportion to their value. Amongst these are hay, corn, potatoes, oats, coal, staves, heading, hoop-poles, boards, stone from valuable quarries, &c. These, whilst they add to the productive value of the land affording them, will also swell the business and income of the road. Experience has already proved this as to some of the above articles; and others will in the course of events be rapidly added to the number.

And now let us look at the stock itself. I propose hereafter to collect together the data more fully than I now can from which to determine the permanent value of the stock. For the present I will state that Railroad charters, and this amongst others, are without limitation as to time. A Railroad therefore, being once completed, and the paid stock made equal to the cost and full equipment of the road, the stock is as permanent property as land or any other property a man can have. It differs entirely in this respect from bank stock. Bank charters seldom have more than twenty years to run from their creation, and their renewal is always matter of doubt and difficulty, besides the many other calamities to which banks are liable, from which Railroads are free.

What dividends the stock will yield, must depend upon the cost of the road, and the amount of steady, permanent business in travel and freight it may be able to command.

The present charges for travel are three dollars and forty-five cents, from Steubenville to Newark, and twenty-five cents from the Cadiz junction to Cadiz, making three dollars and seventy cents for the entire length of the road. The charges for freight vary according to the character of the property to be carried. One-third of a cent per mile for each hundred pounds would approximate an average, yet it would give an imperfect idea, for instance, flour is carried from Newark to Steubenville for thirty cents per barrel of 216 lbs. A ton of first class freight is carried from Newark to Steubenville, 116 miles for $8.00, second class do for $5.20, third class do for $4.80; and intermediate distances at the same rates. A comparison of the road in some of the most essential particulars with other well known roads, will best show what are its prospects.

Since writing the above, I have seen the financial statement of the cost of road. This will enable me to make a financial comparison at once, which I proceed to do: The Boston & Lowell road twenty-six miles long cost $1,956,719 or $75,258 per mile. This road divides eight per cent and retains a large surplus.

The Boston and Maine road seventy-three miles long, cost $3,021,172 or $41,386 per mile. This road divides nine per cent and has an average surplus to meet casualties of $60,000.

Boston and Worcester road, forty-five miles long, cost $4,113,009 or $91,013 per mile. This and the Boston and Lowell road have double tracks. This road divides ten per cent and keeps a large surplus on hand.

The Steubenville and Indiana road has cost it as now stands including all expenses, $8,802,230,75 for 124 miles of road, but a further outlay of $200,000 is required for depots, stations, motive power and ballasting, making a total of $9,000,000 or $22,565 per mile. This sum has been raised as follows:

Stock subscribed and paid 1,218,827, 88
Earnings of the road on freight 22,997, 08
On passengers.....38,083, 81
Bills payable and due indl.....221,284, 56
Loans.....2,801,087 92
To be provided.....197,769, 25

$4,000,000 00
It will thus be seen that to make the stock equal to the cost of the road over its earnings applied, there is wanting $2,720,091,73 in stock or 54,402 shares of $50 each.

Now what is the question presented? Simply, what is to be done is the first. It may be met by various propositions, but one thing is certain, something must be done. Masterly inactivity is certain ruin here. If the fourth and sixth items above amounting to $419,058 81 were provided for by new stock, the fifth item might probably be placed in the position of a permanent six per cent loan.

This would enable the company to pay off such claims as their creditors are not prepared to postpone the payment of ballast, the road, provide rolling stock adequate to the business to be done and in six months, make a dividend on stock. Because it is self-evident that to pay an interest of six or seven per cent. on a loan of $2,301,087 92 is just equivalent to a dividend of six much stock; and for the time being, renders the lenders stockholders—in effect, at a certain instead of an uncertain dividend. To provide for this $419,058 81 will require 8,382 shares of stock, of fifty dollars each.

Can they be had? This will depend upon the answers to two questions.
1st. Is there the ability to take and pay for it? And 2d. Is the prospect of a profitable investment such as to induce prudent men to so place their money?
As their number is sufficiently extended I propose to examine these two questions in another number. A FRIEND.
STEUBENVILLE, June 29, 1855.

Canadians Celebrating the 'Fourth' at Cleveland.
One of the most novel and pleasing incidents connected with the celebration of the 4th of July at Cleveland, says the Plain Dealer, was the visit of some three hundred Canadian Firemen from London, C. W., who, taking advantage of the Reciprocity Treaty and the steamer "Telegraph," came over to see the Fourth, and enjoy, for a day, their own aspirations for liberty.

As they were expected quite early in the morning, the bells of our firemen commenced ringing "before the peep of day," and the Department was out in good time to receive them. They were escorted to the Angier House by the Chief Engineer, in front of which they formed a hollow square, and their own excellent band struck up "Hail Columbia." Never was the National Air of our country played under more peculiar circumstances or with more thrilling effect. All seemed to feel that a new era was dawning upon us, that the time had come when the Lion and the Eagle could dwell in peace together.

Our patriotic Governor, who was stopping at the Angier, determined not to be outdone in the way of civility, came out upon the balcony and welcomed our Canadian friends as "neighbors and cousins." He complimented them upon their fine appearance and thanked them for the honor paid our Republican Institutions in the great State of Ohio, and in the name of the people, welcomed them to our republican shores. After the speech, the Band "Yankee Doodle" with variations. Then followed "God save the Queen," as they wheeled into line, and the crowd gave three tremendous cheers!

Thanks to the steamer Telegraph, the Reciprocity Treaty, and the liberal spirit of the age, Clevelanders and Canadians can now trade and traffic, celebrate and navigate, shout and sing together; and the time will yet come when Brother Jonathan can whistle Yankee Doodle in Hyde Park and sing Hail Columbia in the Scarlet Courts of Westminster.

The Old Oaken Bucket.
This most popular song was written by Samuel P. Woodworth, while yet he was a journeyman printer, working in an office at the corner of Chambers and Chatham streets. Near by, in Frankfort street, was a drinking shop, kept by a man named Mallory, where Woodworth and several particular friends used to resort. One afternoon the liquor was super-excellent. Woodworth seemed inspired by it; for, after taking a draught, he sets his glass upon the table, and smacking his lips, declared that Mallory's cave de vie was superior to anything he had ever tasted. 'No,' said Mallory, 'you are mistaken; there was one which in both our estimations, far surpassed this in the way of drinking.' 'What was that?' asked Woodworth, doubtfully. 'The draught of pure, fresh water that we used to drink from the old oaken bucket that hung in the well, after our return from the labors of the field on a sultry day in Summer.' The tear-droplet glistened for a moment in Woodworth's eye. 'True, true,' he replied, and shortly after quitted the place. He immediately returned to the office, grasped a pen and in half an hour the 'Old Oaken Bucket,' one of the most delightful compositions in our language, was ready in manuscript to be embalmed in the memories of succeeding generations.

Boys, Look at This.
That "Honesty is the best policy," was illustrated some years since, under the following circumstances: A lad was proceeding to an uncle's to petition him for a sick sister and her children, when he found a pocket wallet containing fifty dollars. The lad was refused, and the distressed father was pinched with want. The boy revealed his fortune to his mother, but expressed a doubt about using any portion of the money. His mother confirmed his good resolution, and the pocket book was advertised, and the owner found. Being a man of wealth, upon learning the history of the family, he presented the fifty dollars to the sick mother and took the boy into his service, and he is now one of the most successful merchants in Ohio. 'Honesty' always brings its reward to the mind, if not to the pocket; but it always does in the long run, to the pocket as well as the mind.

The suspension tumpike bridge being built across the Delaware river, at Equinunk, on the line of the Erie railroad, fell on Friday evening. Ten men were engaged on the bridge at the time, six of whom were seriously injured.

The Christian's Experience.
Dear Brethren, I have found,
A land that doth abound,
With fruits as sweet as manna;
The more I eat I find,
The more I am inclined,
To sing and shout hosannas.
My soul now longs to go,
Where I shall fully know,
The glories of my Savior;
And as I pass along,
I'll sing a Christian song,
I hope to live forever.

Oh, Brethren will you go,
A journey with me now,
To see my heavenly canaan;
I care not for your name,
Religion is the same,
With all who love the Savior.
My soul now longs to go, &c.

There's no terrestrial bliss,
Can ever equal this,
My Lord hath also given,
That when temptations rise,
I may not in surprise,
Give up my hope of heaven.
My soul now longs to go, &c.

A city of delight,
This moment shines so bright,
It gives me peace and pleasure,
My birth is from above,
My heart is filled with love,
I love to tell the story.
My soul now longs to go, &c.

The Baltimore "American," of the 30th ult., says: "The phenomena of Thursday morning appears to have been confined within ten miles east and west of Baltimore, though to the north it extended through a range of country of about sixty miles. At Magnolia and in the Neck there were a few that were not fully aroused, and as far as Endicott's Mills the shock was very severe. We have made enquiry of a number of persons residing within a few miles south of the city; and although some of them were up reading or attending to sick children, not the slightest commotion of the elements was heard. The Howard Gazette, published at Elliott's Mills, says: "On Wednesday night last, about 12 1/2 o'clock, some of our citizens were startled from their sleep and considerably frightened by a low, rumbling noise somewhat resembling a distant reverberation of thunder. It lasted for the space of about a minute and a half, and was accompanied by a tremendous motion of the earth, shaking the houses in some localities to their foundation." The Baltimore Co. Advocate also thus alludes to the phenomena, and records a second shock fifteen minutes later: "On Wednesday night last, after 12 o'clock, the people of this section of country were started from their slumbers by a violent shock, accompanied by a report. It was of such violence as to shake the doors and windows, and dishes on the shelves in the houses. In about fifteen minutes another rumbling like distant thunder. At first, people supposed it to be thunder, but the moon was shining, while some hazy clouds stretched off to the North West."

VARIETY OF TASTE.—A correspondent of the Pennsylvania Telegraph makes the following enquiry: "How do you account for it, that, such Anti-American old fogy papers as the Lancaster Examiner, the Carlisle Volunteer, the Democratic Union &c., &c., have any readers at all? They most certainly deserve none."

To which the telegraph replies: "It is entirely owing to the difference of taste. The Chinese you now are very fond of rats—and Mrs. Smith retained a goodly number of boarders though she boasted that she only gave them dried apples for breakfast, cold water for dinner and let them swell for supper."

DIED.

In this city, on Friday, the 13th inst., of Pulmonary Consumption, Mr. J. B. REYNOLDS, after a protracted illness.

Obituary.

Departed this life, at Darby, Pa., on Thursday evening, the 5th inst., the Rev. DAVID POWELL, on the 51st year of his age, after a very painful and protracted illness. His disease was cancerous ulcer (Lapus), which preyed upon his body some three years, causing two amputations of the arm. Patient and even cheerful through all his sufferings, he delighted in ministering to his charge, the Darby Society of New Jerusalem, until nature failing he was compelled to relinquish the delight of his very active and useful life. To know David Powell was to love him. As a teacher of the young he was nearly unsurpassed; kind and benevolent, their tender minds found him a congenial friend and faithful instructor. Born near Steubenville, his heart ever turned to her interests. Mortally having put on immortality, and incorruptible, he lives in a bright eternal spiritual world, to have developed in him every germ of heavenly affection, to enjoy the society of angels forever, and the love of his Divine Redeemer. S.

For the True American.
Obituary.
Died, on Saturday June 30th 1855, in the 15th year of his age, Plummer J. James, only son of Plummer J. James deceased, of Steubenville, Ohio; leaving a sister and mother, the wife of Dr. W. H. Brown of Javala Ills., to mourn their sad and early loss. His death was caused by drowning, whilst in the act of bathing in Spoon river, near Bernadotte, Fulton Co. Illinois.

His remains were interred in the village Cemetery at Javala, on Sabbath afternoon July 1st, under the charge of the Javala Division of the Sons of Temperance, by request of the family of the deceased; followed by a large concourse of sympathizing friends and acquaintances, who had assembled for the performance of the last sad obsequies of the early dead. The death of a loved one under ordinary circumstances, whether occurring as the result of protracted disease or the necessary effect of declining age, is an event which few are able to move unmoved; but when the "insatiable archer" springs his deadly shaft with unerring aim, at the life of the vigorous seion as it is growing into manhood, thereby making an irreparable breach in the family circle, and blasting the fondest hopes of maternal and filial affection; the effect is such as to challenge the power of the most nervous and best fortified mind to withstand the sudden shock. Often we have been called to mourn the untimely demise of the child of disobedience, the inebriate or the criminal; but the friends and relatives of the subject of this brief sketch, find a source of consolation in the fact that the premature decease was unaccompanied by either of these characteristics; whilst a fond and doting mother, and an affectionate and confiding sister are thus called to mourn their sudden bereavement. May they be inspired with confidence in that Supreme Intelligence which has thus early snatched from earth to heaven the spirit of a brother and a son.

"When mid our hopes that waken fears,
And mid our joys that end in gloom;
An angel from the blest above,
Comes down among them at their play;
And takes up one we dearly love,
And bears it silently away.
Bereft, we feel the spirits strife;
But while the inmost soul is riven,
Our dear and dutiful bond of life
Receives immortal bloom in Heaven."

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.
DR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures
EVERY KIND OF HUMOR,
from the worst scrofula down to a common pimple.

He has tried it in over 1100 cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder lightning.) He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its virtue, all within twenty miles of Boston.
Two bottles are warranted to cure a running sore mouth.
One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Two to three bottles will clear the system of biliousness.
One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humors in the eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
One bottle will cure scaly eruptions of the skin.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of rheumatism.
Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.
Reader, I peddled over a thousand bottles of this in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effects of it in every case. So sure as water will extinguish fire, so sure will this cure humor. I never sold a bottle of it but that said another: "after a trial it always speaks for itself. There are two things about this herb that appear to me surprising; first that it grows in our pastures, in some places quite plentiful, and yet its value has never been known until I discovered it in 1846—second, that it should cure all kinds of humors."

In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great popularity of the discovery, I will state that in April, 1853, I peddled it, and sold about six bottles per day—in April, 1854, I sold over one thousand bottles per day.
Some of the wholesale Druggists who have been in business twenty and thirty years, say that nothing in the annals of patent medicines was ever like it. There is a universal praise of it from all quarters.
In my own practice I always kept it strictly for humors—but since its introduction as a general family medicine great and wonderful virtues have been found in it that I never suspected.

Several cases of epileptic fits—a disease which was always considered incurable, have been cured by a few bottles. O, what a mercy if it will prove effectual in all cases of that awful malady—there are but few who have seen more of it than I have.

I know of several cases of Dropsy, all of them aged people, cured by it. From the various diseases of the Liver, sick headache, Dyspepsia, asthma, fever and ague, pain in the sides, distension of the spleen, and partial paralysis in the limbs, the Kidneys, etc., the discovery has done more good than any medicine ever known.

No change of diet ever necessary—eat the best you get and enough of it.
